San Mateo County updates

San Mateo County Health Chief addresses the County's potential inclusion on the State watchlist

On Tuesday, Louise Rogers, Chief of County Health, addressed two factors that may place the county on the State's watch list — the COVID-19 case rate and the variability of the local hospital census.

She said that San Mateo County's case rate is 105.7 per 100,000 of population (as of Tuesday's data), for a 14-day rolling average. Though the County's case rate is lower than that of the Bay Area (109.2), it sits just above the State's guideline that the rate should be below 100.

In discussions with State officials, Rogers has asked that they evaluate the data with sensitivity to underlying core issues and local concerns.

San Mateo County is the only Bay Area county not on the watch list, and Rogers says she expects the County to be added soon. If San Mateo County remains on the watch list for three consecutive days, the State would require the closing of:

- Gyms and fitness centers
- Places of worship and cultural ceremonies, like weddings and funerals
- Offices for non-critical infrastructure sectors
- Personal care services, like nail salons and body waxing
- Hair salons and barbershops
- Shopping malls

She urged residents "to slow down and double down on preventative measures," such as wearing face coverings, washing hands frequently, and avoiding gatherings.

Eviction moratorium extended through August

At Tuesday's meeting, the County Board of Supervisors extended an emergency moratorium on eviction for non-payment of rent by residential tenants impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic until Aug. 31, 2020.

The move places a temporary countywide moratorium on evictions from residential units for:

- non-payment of rent by tenants directly impacted by the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic; and
- certain no-fault causes unless the eviction is necessary for the health and safety of the tenant, other residents in the tenant's building, the landlord, or the landlord's family.

Childcare Relief Fund launched - County Board of Supervisors approve providing $2 million

The Board of Supervisors voted 5-0 to provide $2 million to support local child care providers who have taken a financial hit due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The new Child Care Relief Fund serves twin goals: help providers remain open – particularly those in areas of the county serving families with low incomes – and to ensure working families have access to quality child care.

Under the formula approved today, licensed child care centers would be eligible for grants of up to $25,000 and family child care homes would be eligible for grants of up to $10,000.

Centers across San Mateo County will be eligible for relief through a weighted point system. Priority funding will be targeted to providers who serve vulnerable families (those receiving CalWORKS subsidies, for instance), participate in County initiatives such as The Big Lift and meet other requirements.
